

SAVE THE DATE!!

Jane Doe Inc. (JDI) is in a constant collective effort with member organizations, supporters and allies towards ending gender-based violence. Our annual #ReimagineManhood Symposium has been an organizing strategy and effort to promote gender equity, racial justice, and healthy masculinity. This year symposium has been created in collaboration with one of JDI's member organizations, The Center for Hope and Healing (CHH), who has been deeply involved in this efforts in creating innovative, culturally relevant practices.

Too often we focus on teaching women and girls, trans and queer people how not to get raped, rather than teaching perpetrators not to rape. At our last year's prevention summit we talked about the wave of sexual assault allegations from the White House and Massachusetts State House to Hollywood. Today, IT IS TIME TO STEP UP!! Join us as we hear from national and local leaders and have our own dialogues about the work in our communities and programs about how to engage men and boy in cities and towns, schools and workplaces across MA to address sexual violence. IT IS TIME FOR ACTION!
